Seek Incorporation Of Nursing Home District

First Wheat To U.G.G. Elevator

What may be the first delivery here of spring wheat for the 1964 crop was received Monday of this week by Ray Beckner of the UGG elevator.

Taken from new breaking last year on the Dan Jantzie farm north of Vulcan, this Thatcher crop weighed 59 lbs. to the bushel and went 21 bushels to the acre.

The delivery was graded No. 2 Northern. Although the heads are shrunk and show the results of lack of moisture the wheat is considered better than was expected considering late season conditions.

Reddy Fox Seen In The Flesh

Arthur Cutforth has travelled the country roads around Vulcan long enough not to be surprised at the occasional coyote that slinks off into a field or covey of partridge, pheasant or a duck that flutters in front of his car.

However he met his "first" in foxes on Monday, Aug. 10, on the new piece of high grade road just north of town. This fox was not real strong on publicity though and allowed Art only a distant view as it moved into a field of grain, however its coloration, head and length of bushy tail including white patch, marked it as a red fox to Art.

Its general course was away from the Glen Graham farm where he thought it might have been dining at the chicken coop but Glen has suffered no losses that he is aware of.

District Agriculturist Clarence Roth was brought into the picture for the normal habitat and history of this stranger but they didn't have such beasts in the Bow Island country where Clarence was brought up and he almost refused to trust Art's eyes.

Seeing is believing to Art though and while he's not going to quit harvesting to go after the evidence, he's convinced there is, or was a red fox in the area.

Future Revision of Water Rates To Be Considered By Council

Several complaints regarding the cost of water for garden and lawn use were aired at the August meeting of the Vulcan town council, with the result that a revision of the water rates is now under consideration. Other towns are to be contacted so that a comparison of rates will be available.

It is anticipated that the pro-

The incorporation of the Vulcan-Foothills Nursing Home District No. 11 was discussed at a meeting held in High River on August 5. Representing the County of Vulcan were Councillors Ivan Haga and Donald McNiven and Mayor M. R. Morrison and Councillor Stan Scates represented the Town of Vulcan. Representatives of the Municipal District of Foothills, the Town of High River and the Town of Okotoks were also in attendance.

It was agreed that the municipality, the county and the three towns should all make application to have the nursing district incorporated. When the applications have been ratified and the incorporation of the nursing home district approved, a permanent board of directors will be set up and all nursing homes in the area will come under control of this board.

The population represented by the municipalities concerned indicates that a total of 71 beds would likely be approved by the provincial government for the Vulcan-Foothills district. High River now has a 33-bed nursing home in operation and it is likely that the next step in providing additional nursing home accommodation for the area would be the construction of a 35-bed home at Vulcan.

Approved homes receive a government grant of $4.50 per occupied bed per nursing day and each patient is charged $2.75 per day. Nursing homes can be built and operated by private enterprise or by a municipality.

Legion Picnic Sunday, Aug. 23

Little Bow Park will be the scene of a Royal Canadian Legion picnic on Sunday, Aug. 23, with all Legion members, their friends and families invited to attend. Sponsored by the Vulcan Branch, the picnic is open to members of all district branches and their families and friends.

Ice cream, pop and hot dogs will be supplied for the children, with each family bringing its own lunch. Starting time is 12 noon and races and boat rides will be arranged.

Regular Meeting Reid Hill W.I.

The regular meeting of Reid Hill W.I. was held Thursday, Aug. 13, at the home of Mrs. Frieda McRoberts, with Mrs. L. Healy as assisting hostess. Mrs. John French was in the chair and conducted the meeting assisted by acting secretary, Mrs. J. C. MacMillan. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. C. L. Kuykendall.

The punctuality draw was won by Mrs. P. Myers.

Routine business matters were dealt with. It was decided to ask the Home Economist to visit the branch early in the new year as she had been unable to be at the August meeting as had been planned.

Tentative plans were made to cater to a forthcoming wedding reception. Roll Call was answered by 15 members and two visitors with "What I Can See From My Kitchen Window" and proved quite interesting.

At the conclusion of the business session the meeting was turned over to Mrs. W. A. Fitzpatrick, who conducted an interesting and unusual contest. Mrs. Chandler was the lucky winner.

A delicious and dainty lunch was served by the hostesses to conclude the afternoon's program. Mrs. C. L. Kuykendall will be the hostess for the September meeting.

MR. AND MRS. FRED GOTTENBERG

Settled At Champion, 1917

The 50th Anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gottenberg was celebrated on Sunday, July 26 at the home of their son, Martin Gottenberg.

Fred Gottenberg was married to Bessie Eller in July 1914 in Kendrick, Idaho. They moved to the Champion district in 1917 where they resided until 1950 when they moved to the Reid Hill district where they still reside. They have two children Martin and Kathryn. Martin resides in the Reid Hill District and Kathryn (Mrs. Dean Rolison) lives in Raymond. They have six grandchildren.

In honor of the festive occasion the table was beautifully decorated with a hand-made table cloth, the work of the bride of 50 years ago. The wedding cake, decorated by Mrs. Guy Dow of Champion, flanked by gold mum flower arrangements encircling gold candles made an attractive setting. Honors at the tea table were shared by Mrs. Oscar Hagg, Mrs. Albert Orcutt, Mrs. Guy Dow, Mrs. Allen Maclean, Champion; Mrs. Ted Schulte, Calgary; Mrs. William Christensen, Mrs. Boyd McKay, Vulcan, and Mrs. George Fallquist, Spokane, Wash. The guest book was looked after by Mrs. Boyd McKay, Mrs. Lawrence Orchard and Mrs. Elwood Myers.

Telegrams and long distant phone calls were received from Dr. and Mrs. Archie Johnson, Vancouver, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bell, Mesa, Ariz. and Martin Sletto, Dallasport, Wash.

Two hundred guests called during the afternoon and evening to offer the couple their best wishes. On Saturday prior to the celebration a family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gottenberg with some 40 members of the family enjoying a delicious turkey dinner.

Out-of-town relatives present for the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. George Fallquist, Spokane, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis, Tacoma, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sletto, Kent, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton, Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Donald Cameron, Spokane, Wash.; Mrs. Leonard Curtis, Czar, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Garry Sletto and children, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sletto and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Anderson, Champion.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gottenberg were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hagg and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hagg, also Mrs. Jack Beards and son Allen, who came over from London, England to help celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary. While here they visited Waterton Lakes and Banff.

Vulcan-Strathmore Region

Farm Business Reports Show Income Up in '63

Farm business reports, a joint effort between farmers, their district agriculturists and the Alberta Farm Economics Branch, have been released to 29 farm operators in the Vulcan-Strathmore region.

These farms have been under analysis for three years in an effort to find business weaknesses which could be corrected to improve income positions, says Len Bauer, agricultural economist in charge of the study. For some operators this has meant discontinuing certain enterprises that have not been paying their way. For others it has meant enlarging production lines that indicate high long-term profit potentials.

According to the reports, crops in the Vulcan-Strathmore region yielded $20.63 an acre in 1963 compared to $11.57 on essentially the same farms a year earlier. Livestock returns, on the other hand, were less favorable in 1963 compared to 1962. This situation was due to a greatly reduced buying margin on feeder cattle and lower calf prices last fall.

In spite of the less favorable livestock situation, labor earnings were $7,234.00 in 1963 compared to $486.00 in 1962. Mr. Bauer says higher crop yields, due to improved moisture conditions, larger operations and other efficiency factors, were responsible for the considerably improved income position.

Cost and return figures for the group averages, contained in the farm business reports, are available to other farmers in the area from district agriculturists and from the Extension Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Swathing Gets Under Way

Showers fell over many parts of the county area the latter part of last week, ranging from light to near-cloudbursts. Flax and some late sown crops will benefit to some extent but the moisture was too late to prevent deterioration of spring wheat crops.

Many farmers started swathing barley and spring wheat on Monday of this week. It is anticipated that there will be a wide variation in yields when combining starts.

Vulcan Swimmers Are Best At H.R. Swim Meet

(By Dale Phillips)

The organization of a swim club one evening prior to a competitive swim meet is, for all practical purposes, totally unheard of. But then who's practical? Certainly our hometown swimmers are not practical — they are rather just zaney-good!

About 25 swimmers 'sardined' to High River Saturday morning with 'hopes of making a good showing'. Oh well — you can't lose them all! The same 25 swimmers returned Saturday evening with a large 3-statue trophy and 103 points worth of ribbons. High River scored 81 points, Turner Valley 17 points and Claresholm 15 points. The point system was 5 points for first, 3 points for second and 1 point for third.

These are the events Vulcan placed in: 15-16, 50 m. freestyle, boys, Allan Hubbard 2nd; 15-16, 50 m. freestyle, girls, Ina Haverty 1st, Karen Boutland 2nd and Fay Findlay 3rd; 13-14, 50 m. freestyle, boys, Jerry Hubbard 1st and Don Dumka 3rd; 10 and under 25 m. freestyle, boys, Johnny Haverty 2nd; 10 and under 25 m. freestyle, girls, Maureen Giles 1st and Karen Weber 2nd; 11-12, 50 m. freestyle, boys, Bruce Stoddard 2nd and John Douville 3rd; 11-12, 50 m. freestyle, girls, Susie Boutland 1st and Kathy Sokvitne 2nd.

Water Rates

Many Vulcan householders, secure in the knowledge that water is no longer a problem in Vulcan and water rationing is a thing of the past, were merrily pouring water to their gardens and lawns during the hot July weather. But there was a rude awakening when the June-July water bills were received early in August, for Vulcan's water rates are still based on the thinking that water is a scarce commodity and its use over and above normal household requirements must be discouraged.

Present rates are: $3.75 per month for the first 2,000 gallons, $1.10 per M gals. for the next 3,000 gals. used per month, and 80 cents per M gals. for all over 5,000 gals. used per month. Sewer charge is a flat $1.25 per month.

It must be stated, though, that a summer's operation of the water system at the old rates was required to establish whether or not revenue was sufficient to meet debenture payments and interest on both the original water-sewer debenture debt and the additional $300,000 debt incurred by the building of the pipeline to the Little Bow River and the new reservoirs. There was a distinct possibility that basic rates might have to be raised to pay for the new water supply system but, although exact figures are not yet available, it is now hoped that this action will not be necessary.

As our water rates now stand they are very near to being the highest in the province, particularly for water used over and above the basic 2,000 gallons per month. With water supplies now ample, town council's problem is to establish a rate that will be low enough to encourage householders to use lots of water for gardens and lawns and at the same time produce enough revenue to keep the water system on a self-supporting basis. The lower the rate, the more water will be used and the town will benefit from the improved appearance of homes and other properties. Summer water rates that are too high would be a heavy brake on the town's progress.

AVOID WHEAT STREAK MOSAIC

Wheat Streak Mosaic ruined numerous fields of winter wheat this spring and many others were more or less seriously affected. Had warmer spring weather prevailed, the damage to winter wheat could have been far greater and the spread to spring wheat and barley crops more general.

This widespread outbreak of wheat streak mosaic illustrates the danger of sowing winter wheat near immature spring wheat or barley and emphasizes the importance of following the recommended cultural control practices.

The problem began last fall when winter wheat emerged while green late-maturing spring crops and volunteer growth were still abundant. Tiny, wind-blown mites carried the virus from these sources of the disease to the winter wheat.

The long, warm, frost-free fall promoted the exceptional spread and development of the disease before freeze-up.

There need be no repetition of the crop losses suffered this year if precautions are taken to avoid infection of winter wheat. The effectiveness of the control will depend on how closely you and your neighbors follow the recommended practices by which winter wheat growers have controlled this disease in the past. These recommendations are based on the knowledge that both the wheat streak mosaic virus and the mite that carries it need a continuous source of living host plants on which to survive.

The aim is to prevent the infection of winter wheat on which the virus and mites over-winter by eliminating all sources of the disease before the fall crop is sown.

Winter wheat should be sown only after nearby spring wheat or barley crops have ripened and volunteer plants have been destroyed. Since spring-sown crops normally ripen and are often harvested before the end of August, winter wheat sown during September usually escapes infection from this source. Control then depends upon the destruction of volunteer wheat and barley on or near the field to be sown to winter wheat. Winter wheat growers in southern Alberta have repeatedly demonstrated the effectiveness of these cultural control practices.

Late-maturing wheat and barley will not be as general this year as they were last. However, immature regrowth in hail-damaged fields as well as other late crops should not be overlooked as potentially dangerous sources of wheat streak mosaic infection.

Although winter wheat, because of its advanced growth, is damaged less by cutworms than are spring-sown cereals, winter wheat growers should be aware that infestations of pale western cutworms have been forecast for 1965 in the area east of a line joining Del Bonita, Fort Macleod, and Vulcan. This hazard can be reduced if the surface crust on fallow fields is left undisturbed during August and early September.

Winter wheat normally develops its maximum winterhardiness and produces its highest yields when sown during the first two weeks of September. This year both the wheat streak mosaic and the cutworm threat make earlier seeding especially hazardous. Delaying seeding until as close to mid-September as possible would be preferable.

N.B.—Field observations this summer indicate that certain varieties of fall rye, while not themselves damaged by the disease, may be symptomless carriers of wheat streak mosaic. While confirmation of this observation awaits laboratory tests, until further notice treat volunteer fall rye as a potential source of infection. To avoid the possibility of carrying wheat streak mosaic over winter on fall rye, follow the same precautions in seeding this crop as outlined for winter wheat.

For further information consult your district agriculturist.

U.C.W. PRESENT

LIFE MEMBERSHIP PINS

The August meeting of the Brant U.C.W. took the form of a party to honor the three women who had been presented with life membership pins for faithful service over the years in the Ladies' Aid and now the U.C.W.—Mrs. Bea Prater, Mrs. M. Pearson and Mrs. S. R. Graham.

The president, Mrs. Neil Stotts, was in the chair. There were 12 members and five visitors, including Mrs. A. Green and Mrs. Rose Auld of High River, present. The devotional, "Painting our lives" was read by Mrs. Bea Prater. Mrs. Phyllis McDonald then presented corsages to the three honored guests.

Following the business, Mrs. Alice Green and Mrs. Dolores Payce lead the group in making articles from foam rubber and plastic. This was enjoyed by all. A delicious lunch was then served by Mrs. Neil Stotts, Mrs. Charlotte Green and Mrs. Inez Prater. Mrs. Eva McKay was hostess for the afternoon.

ALSTON

STRAUSS-FLETCHER SHOWER

A capacity crowd gathered at the Alston Hall Saturday evening to honor Dick Strauss and his bride-to-be, Mary Fletcher.

Doug Racher was a very able and entertaining master of ceremonies for the evening. The Carlson and Middleton girls and Lorna Smith sang, "What Will Be, Will Be" with appropriate words for the occasion. Joyce Saunders and Annalee Middleton each favored the audience with piano selections.

To help prepare the young couple for their forthcoming wedding a group of Hillbillies presented a preview of the happy event: "Marryin' Sam, relatives and friends preceded the lovely bride down the aisle to appropriate music. A diminutive flower girl strewed a path of dry grass and weeds for the bride who entered on the arm of her aged father. She was beautifully attired in a lovely net length gown. Her feet were daintily fitted with her father's best work boots. Her twine string locks were caught back in a lovely veil of old curtains. Her fragrant bouquet of wilted onions was tied with a shoe string bow.

The mother of the bride was dressed in mourning black and it was difficult to know if her sorrow was for losing a daughter or if she had caught a glimpse of the groom who stood quaking before Marryin' Sam.

All too soon it was all over and the happy couple floated down the aisle on the tears of the bride's mother, grandmother and other female relatives who had enjoyed a wailing good time.

Mary and Dick and their mothers, Mrs. Hazel Balmer of Calgary and Mrs. Laura Strauss were seated at a beautifully decorated table. Two little nurses' aides, to the honored couple. Dick thanked everyone for the assisted by a bandaged patient, lovely gifts and the entertaining evening. Everyone then assembled John Middleton, carried in a stretcher in the basement where the hostess filled with many useful and tenses for the evening served a delightful gifts and presented them delicious lunch.

TO ALL FARMERS

Are you seeding Fall Rye or Winter Wheat this year?

If you are, you would be wise to use fertilizer. This will develop a better root system and increase resistance to winter kill. You will also get a better start next spring and greater yields. We have good stocks of Elephant Brand Fertilizers on hand. Give us a call.

"OUR ALBERTA HERITAGE"

CHIEF CROWFOOT - STATESMAN OF THE PLAINS

Long before white settlers came, there were great and proud men in Alberta. Such was Chief Crowfoot, born in a Blackfoot teepee near Gleichen in 1826. Chief Crowfoot was great on two counts — as a warrior and as a peacemaker. He could say, "Though our enemies be as strong as the sun, as numerous as the stars, we will defend our lodges." But Crowfoot was never the aggressor. He forbade stealing from other tribes, or scalping prisoners. He rejected bribes from Sitting Bull to join the Custer massacre in Montana. He energetically supported the 1877 treaty, and prevented war parties from attacking railroad men in Alberta. Proud and independent ... a statesman and peacemaker ... Chief Crowfoot and the Indian people have a lasting place in the heritage of OUR ALBERTA.

This is an example of the stories of enterprise and courage in Calgary Power's new publication "Our Alberta Heritage". Mail coupon for your free copy.
